Viet Cong Unleashes Violent, Heavy Shelling

SAIGON (AP) — Unleashing the heaviest shelling of South Vietnamese towns and allied bases in three weeks, the Viet Cong appeared today to have opened a new and more violent phase of its seven-week-old spring offensive.

Rockets and mortars hit more than 45 towns and bases during the night. The heaviest attacks were made on provincial capitals on opposite sides of Saigon, Tay Ninh to the northwest and Vinh Long to the southwest.

At least 21 persons were killed, 200 were wounded in the two cities and about 80 others were missing in Tay Ninh. Some Americans were among the wounded, but no American deaths were reported.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said six provincial and five district capitals were among the targets Thursday night, and that about a third of the attacks were in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

Replacements

The night's attacks were among the most devastating of the offensive which began Feb. 23 and the heaviest since the night of March 20-21, when 65 rocket and mortar attacks were reported.

During the past three weeks the shelling had dropped off to between 10 to 20 attacks a night. U.S. military analysts said earlier this week the offensive was in a lull while the enemy received replacements and supplies after suffering heavy losses.

But the American experts predicted an increase in enemy activity this weekend and said most of the attacks would be

"by fire," meaning rockets and mortars.

Copter Losses High

Despite the lull in the enemy offensive in the past week, the U. S. Command's weekly summary of aircraft losses revealed today that 26 American helicopters have been lost in the past week, bringing the total for the war to 2,520. One was reported shot down in the Mekong Delta Thursday, and the loss of eight others had been explained in earlier communiques during the week, but there was no explanation for the loss of the other 17.

Blew Ammo Dump

South Vietnamese sources said more than 100 mortar rounds hit the market place, a prison and Vietnamese officers' mess in Vinh Long, a delta city 65 miles southwest of Saigon.

Initial reports said 15 persons were killed and 105 were wounded, including 96 Vietnamese civilians.

On the other side of Saigon and close to the Cambodian border, more than 80 rocket and mortar rounds slammed into Tay Ninh, blowing up two ammunition dumps, destroying 100 buildings and causing at least 101 casualties, officials reported.

Officials said much of the barrage was concentrated in a three-block area containing the provincial government and military headquarters, a sector headquarters and the compound of the U.S. military advisory team.

About 15 rounds landed in the American compound, smashing buildings and causing moderate to heavy material damage, the U. S. Command said. A spokesman said some Americans were wounded, but none were killed.

NATO Discuses Europe Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The NATO foreign ministers, winding up their 20th anniversary meeting, invited President Nixon back today for further talks on a Communist proposal to discuss European security.

The Communist suggestion, made last month, became the central topic of the NATO Council meeting when it opened Thursday.

Qualified approval of the proposal was expected even before the opening of today's session, although France's Michel Debre had given the Soviet suggestion what amounted to a cold shoulder.

U. S. Position

The American position was spelled out by Nixon Thursday when he addressed the council. The President, who reportedly asked to meet with the ministers before they issued a communiqué on the Soviet proposal today, said in his Thursday speech that it was "not enough to talk of European security in the abstract."

"We must know the elements of insecurity and how to remove them," Nixon said. "Conferences are useful if they deal with concrete issues, which means they must be carefully prepared."

The need for careful preparation was stressed also by most ministers. Many of them had another reservation, too: There can be no conference without the United States and Canada, the two Western hemisphere countries the Soviets excluded in the past proposals for discussions on European matters.

Soviet Switch

Moscow, it now appears, has changed its mind. Soviet envoys in Washington and in Europe are assuring everyone who is willing to listen that they have dropped their insistence on a conference without the United States and Canada.

Nixon, in his address, advised the Council to find ways of "living in the real world."

This includes, he said, "unfreezing our old concepts of East versus West, while never losing sight of great ideological differences."

NATO, the President said, "is needed; and the American commitment to NATO will remain in force and remain strong. We in America continue to consider Europe's security as our own."

GOPs Leave Alaskan Tour

POINT BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy pressed on with his tour of Alaskan villages today—without the Republican members of his subcommittee, who left the group in a dispute over the purpose of the trip.

Kennedy arrived here late Thursday, after a two-hour delay at Arctic village, where starter difficulties held up the group's Air Force C-130 transport.

The Kennedy party arrived in 10-degree temperature and a caravan of Indian snow machines and dog sleds escorted them from the airport to the village one mile away.

The Republicans split off Thursday, contending the tour was being stage managed with an eye to getting publicity.

Kennedy said it was "incredible" that party politics had entered into the tour. The Massachusetts Democrat called the departure of the Republicans "a disservice to these needy people of Alaska."

Sen. William Saxbe was the first to leave and his Washington office later issued a statement saying the Ohioan felt the tour was a "stage managed scenario with conclusions already reached by the subcommittee before we left Washington."

He was followed by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif. Bellmon called the trip a "publicity stunt."

Kennedy said he and Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., would continue the tour as part of an effort to give the Senate a "realistic and forceful program" aimed at improving the living conditions of the Alaska natives.

The split came after disclosure of a memo from a member of the subcommittee staff advising Kennedy to emphasize television coverage of contrasts between Indian living conditions and "the affluence of government installations."

Schools Cutting Back Teachers

By The Associated Press
Financially pressed school districts across the state are notifying thousands of teachers they will not be rehired for the coming school year.

Most of the districts which will cut back on nontenured teachers have suffered millage proposal defeats within the last two months, and have little idea how much state aid will be forthcoming.

Almost all of them will be operating on deficit budgets by the end of the current school year.

Among Detroit-area schools facing staff cutbacks are Lincoln Park, Allen Park, Crestwood, Dearborn No. 8, Westwood and Waterford. Similar cutbacks are also being discussed in Birmingham and Huron Valley.

Waterford schools are expected to release 94 of their 720 teachers, according to Robert Crumpton of the Waterford MEA.

Crompton said the district is now on probation with the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools, and may lose its accreditation because of planned staff and program cutbacks.

In Port Huron, school officials are considering the cutback of half the district's 600 teachers. The MEA is contesting the cutbacks, arguing that natural staff attrition and turnover may be enough to meet financial crises in some of the districts.

Students Credited With Saving Towns

By The Associated Press
Volunteers patrolled dikes through the night in Sioux City, Iowa, where the Big Sioux River flowed out of its banks and across three miles of land, submerging homes or leaving roof-tops exposed like tiny dots.

The 200 volunteers were adults called out to relieve more than 1,000 teenagers and college students who were given credit Thursday for helping to save some northwest Iowa towns from the ravages of river floods.

The biggest fear among residents forced from their homes where the Big Sioux flows into the Missouri River along the South Dakota and Iowa border was that constant pressure on the levees would cause a breakthrough and inundate the area.

No Worse

Otherwise, flooding conditions today were no worse than Thursday when water spilled through a dike at Sioux Falls, S.D., forcing the evacuation of 50 families and rupturing a natural gas pipeline.

The youngsters pitched in to repair the damaged barrier and no injuries resulted from the broken gas line.

High schools in the flood-threatened communities freed students from classes to join the flood-fighting force and colleges in the area were in the midst of Easter vacation.

Return Home

At Cherokee, Iowa, where some 350 persons had been forced to flee their homes when the Little Sioux River flooded 27 blocks, evacuation chairman Carvell Burkhardt praised the young people. "We hear more about the youngsters who do wrong," said Burkhardt. "These boys are the kind anyone would be proud to have as a son."

Some of the Cherokee residents began returning to their homes today.

All 800 residents of North Sioux City, S.D., remained away from their homes, abandoned to the swirling waters which crested between 12 and 12.5 feet early today. The flood level was not expected to recede before Saturday.

Rivers in Wisconsin continued to recede. However, the flood threat at LaCrosse increased as the Mississippi River inched steadily upward.

The Mississippi is expected to reach flood stage first at St. Paul and Minneapolis, then at LaCrosse and should reach Dubuque, Iowa, by Sunday.

Apollo 12 Crew To Be All Navy

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A balding, 38-year-old veteran of two space flights will lead a three-man team on man's first attempt at true exploration of the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration named Cmdr. Charles Conrad Thursday as commander of an all-Navy astronaut crew on Apollo 12, scheduled to bring off man's second lunar landing.

With Conrad on the flight will be Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon, 39, command module pilot, and Lt. Cmdr. Alan L. Bean, 37, the lunar module pilot. Apollo 12 is intended as the first of nine flights of exploration of the lunar topography. Its flight plan includes up to 12 hours of crew activity outside the space craft and on the moon's bleak surface.

Apollo 11, which is scheduled for launch in July, will allow only a few hours of crew activity on the moon. An official once characterized the Apollo 11 lunar landing as a "grab and go."

Job Corps Criteria Is Mystery, Says Director

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Slogans on the walls of the St. Louis Job Corps Center for women. One of them reads: "Knowledge replaces fear, so don't be scared. Start learning."

But with the learning apparently about to stop, many of the 600 enrollees and 200 staff members are scared—and bewildered. The St. Louis facility is one of 65 the Department of Labor says will be closed in a major shakeup of the antipoverty program.

"It can't close," said one trainee. "Boys and girls will be roaming the streets again," said another.

Many students feel sure the center will remain open "some way."

One-Third Complete

"The criteria they used is a mystery to me," said Al Androlewicz, director of the center. "I can only go by the criteria the Office of Economic Opportunity used, and we were always rated second or third."

Enrollees in St. Louis, Androlewicz said, stay an average of 9.2 months; high among the 17 Job Corps Centers for women. The national average is 7.3 months, he said.

Recent figures show 161 of 176 graduates placed in skilled jobs. The percentage of girls completing the various courses, about one-third of the enrollees, is also high among Job Corps Centers, Androlewicz said.

"I thought the job corps was in trouble, but not us," he continued.

"I can't see any rhyme or reason to it. We've always been honest in our reporting."

Rectify Mistakes

The cost per student has been about $5,400 per year. It was due to come down to $5,100 next year because of the elimination of some programs.

"We've made mistakes in the past and we've rectified them. This center is a completely different place than it was two years ago," Androlewicz said. Students currently enrolled in

Accident Halts Dock Operations

By DAVE ANDREWS

A Republic man was believed killed Thursday night when 300 tons of pelletized iron ore burst through the bottom of a 1,000-ton capacity surge bin at the Chicago & North Western Railway Co. ore terminal in north Escanaba.

The accident disrupted loading operations and shut-down shipments from the $16.5 million terminal indefinitely.

Workmen using shovels, three cranes, two bulldozers and metal cutting equipment were attempting to clear the ore pellets and twisted steel from the base of the bin this morning to recover the body.

Missing is Alfred Koerner, 46, of Republic, one of four electricians who were working beneath the bin when the bottom fell out about 10:45 p.m. Thursday. The other three men, who were not identified by company officials, escaped without injury.

A spokesman for TH Electrical Co., Cleveland, said Koerner is the only person not accounted for this morning. He was believed buried under tons of steel and ore pellets.

Workers at the site said they heard cracking and then a loud roar as the iron pellets plunged through the bottom of the bin to the ground some 30 feet below.

Power Severed

At the time of the accident, the Inland Steel Co. freighter Philip E. Block was being loaded over the new conveyor dock. The ship, under command of Capt. David Kinnear, cleared the harbor about 10 a.m. today with about 8,300 tons of a scheduled 12,800-ton load for East Chicago, Ind.

Electrical power to the dock area was severed in the accident, but chains were hooked to the loading arm which was extended over the cargo area of the boat to allow it to leave the dock.

Ed Berner, superintendent of construction for McDowell-Wellman Construction Co. of Cleveland, said the firm's engineering department in Cleveland started work this morning on plans to put the ore loading system "back in business before too long."

There was no immediate estimate of how long the new facility might be shutdown, but estimates at the scene ranged from 10 days to six weeks.

Need Damage Study

Thomas Cyphert of Cleveland, contract engineer for McDowell-Wellman, said no determination on the length of the shutdown could be made until a study of the damage is completed.

"First we have to find the man and get the mess cleaned up," he said.

Conveyor Damaged

The surge bin, located near the water, serves to funnel ore from one conveyor belt to a lower conveyor leading to the dock belt. The bin is used to hold ore in an "overflow" situation and to maintain an even flow of ore onto the dock from either stockpiles or train cars.

"It looks as though the bottom section of the bin broke loose," Cyphert said.

"We don't know what was the cause of it," he said. The bin, which looks somewhat like a large water tank, was designed to hold 1,000 long tons of ore. (A long ton equals 2,240 pounds). About 300 long tons were in the bin when the bottom broke loose.

Besides the bin, which will need extensive repairs, the accident caused severe damage to the conveyor belt from the base of the bin to the dock conveyor. That belt, engineers said, ran about 150 feet.

Shipments of iron ore over the new facility began last week with loading of the Henry Ford II. The Philip E. Block was the third ship to be loaded.

The railroad had expected to load over 10 million tons of iron ore over the dock this summer and fall, a record shipment for Escanaba.

Stockpiling of iron ore pellets from Upper Peninsula pellet plants began last month in advance of the shipping season.

Harvard Group Votes To Strike

By The Associated Press
About 1,200 of Harvard University students have voted to strike for three days at the 15,000-student Ivy League school to protest police tactics in ending a campus sit-in. Some professors canceled today's classes.

Sit-ins and strikes beset other campuses around the country.

The Harvard strike vote came Thursday in Memorial church after some 400 helmeted policemen swarmed onto the campus earlier in the day to break up the sit-in, leaving 39 students injured and 197 arrested.

The students debated for several hours before fixing the strike "to thoroughly condemn the bringing of police onto this campus, and the excessive use of violence while they were here."

About 150 students ran out of the meeting and raced through Harvard Yard, shouting "Smash ROTC, no expansion" and "On strike. Shut it down. Join us."

The sit-in on the Cambridge, Mass. campus had begun Wednesday to protest the Reserve Officers Training Corps program and plans—denied by Harvard officials—to expand the medical school and displace local Negro residents. The sit-in was organized by Students for a Democratic Society.

Seven policemen and three nonstudents were also hurt in Thursday's melee.

In Stanford, Calif., about 600 students voted Thursday night to remain inside Stanford University's Applied Electronics Laboratory, where they had moved in Wednesday.

The students, who were protesting classified scientific research done for the armed forces in the lab, ignored a warning from school president Kenneth S. Pitzer that they were "violating university policies." Also unheeded was a plea by the student body president to end the sit-in.

MSU'S Cowden Offered Post

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dean Thomas K. Cowden of the Michigan State University College of Agriculture and Natural Resources reportedly has been offered the post of assistant U.S. secretary of agriculture.

Cowden was unavailable for comment Wednesday.

Sources said, however, that the 60-year-old dean had told colleagues he would accept the federal post if confirmed.

Acting MSU President Walter Adams said he had not been officially advised of the job offer to Cowden. "The background to the rumor would seem to lend some substance," Adams added.

Cowden and Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin have been close friends and associates for some years, sources said.

Cowden took over the top MSU agriculture spot in 1954 from Hardin, who became chancellor at the University of Nebraska.

Cowden earned bachelor's and master's degrees at Ohio State University, a doctorate at Cornell University and a second doctorate at Purdue.

He served as a professor of agricultural economics at both Pennsylvania State University and Purdue before becoming director of research for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

In 1949, Cowden was named chairman of the MSU Department of Agricultural Economics, where he served for five years before being named Hardin's successor.

Marquette Residents Fighting Power Plant

LANSING (AP) — Marquette area residents received little but sympathy Thursday in their efforts to block construction of a power plant on a Lake Superior scenic location.

Gordon Labuhn of Harvey, representing "Citizens to Save the Superior Shoreline," took the case of opponents to the state Natural Resources Commission.

"We are in full accord with your attempt to preserve the shoreline, but we have little weight to swing," said Commission Director Ralph MacMillan.

Labuhn said the Upper Peninsula Power Co. wanted to locate a new power plant on Little Presque Isle Point, near Marquette.

This is a section of scenic shoreline with sandstone cliffs and forest lands and is located near Harlow Creek, an outstanding trout stream, he said.

More than 5,000 signatures were obtained on a petition against the plant location within 10 days, he reported.

State Park

"If this is built there, we will have three power plants on a shoreline within 10 miles of each other," Labuhn said.

He asked the commission to: —See if the site could be designated a state park.

—Ask the governor to place all Michigan shoreline under some kind of planning control, as is done in Hawaii.

—Investigate the matter and discourage the construction.

Some Marquette Township residents favor the construction, he admitted, because of the prospective income from taxes.

Glenn Gregg, deputy director of recreation for the department, said he had talked to officials of the power company and reported they were willing to consider alternate sites.

It might be possible, he said, to locate the plant back from the shoreline or add it to an existing plant in the area.

Richard Cellarius of Ann Arbor, representing the Michigan Chapter of the Sierra Club, also spoke in opposition to the location.

group, he said, because of the scenic importance of the Lake Superior shoreline to all the people of Michigan.

Commissioner Matt Laitala said he had been informed the estimated cost of the plant is $18 million. If it were moved back from the lake, he said, it would cost another $7.5 million.

The extra cost, he said, presumably would be reflected in an increase in power rates.

"The plant is needed," Laitala said, "because of the tremendous rebirth of iron ore processing. This will provide the needed power."

If the location is approved, Labuhn reported, "tourists will see the sun setting down the chimney of a power plant."

THE CITY OF MUSKEGON and Mrs. J. Kelly Kaufman, wife of a Muskegon industrialist, are going to court over this vacant lot. Mrs. Kaufman, a noted art collector, put a collection of railroad ties, metal shavings, foundry clinkers and transformers on the lot and says it's art. The city, responding to complaints from neighbors, says the lot is filled with junk. The city attorney is preparing to take the matter to court in an effort to have the lot classed as a public menace. (AP Wirephoto)

Operating Costs Up 15 Percent At Pinecrest

A sharp increase in the cost of operating Pinecrest Medical Facility at Powers was reported in the annual report by Gene Marcantonio, administrator.

Total operating costs in 1968 were 15 per cent greater than in 1967. Fewer patient days of care were provided.

"Gross operating expenditures amounted to $1,062,638, compared with $924,354 in 1967," he said. "Pinecrest provided 57,964 patient days of care in 1968 compared to 58,126 days of care in 1967."

The greater share of the increased operating cost resulted from wage and salary increases as well as an increase in fringe benefits after a new contract was negotiated with Pinecrest Employees Local 854, he said.

In addition, administrative costs increased substantially, from $164 per patient day in 1967 to $242 per patient day last year.

The facility at Powers is jointly owned by Delta, Menominee and Dickinson County and each county contributed $3,000 toward operational costs last year—a figure which may increase substantially in 1969.

Average Age 81

Of the total days care provided, 1,998 days were covered by Medicare, 54,430 days were under the Medicaid program and 1,536 were paid privately.

Average age of patients at Pinecrest is 81—the youngest age 36 and the oldest 101. Two residents are over 100 years old, 21 are over 90 and 84 patients are over 80 years old.

Marcantonio reported that 20,960 physical therapy treatments were administered to patients in 1968, an average of about 28 treatments per patient. About 43 patients participated daily in 12,626 hours of hand and loom crafts provided by the Patient Activities Dept. Patients also participated in 2,593 hours of recreation activity.

Patrick Schorman of Iron Mountain, a member of the Dickinson County Welfare Board, was elected chairman of the Pinecrest Board of Trustees. He will serve until April 1, 1970.

Edward Murphy of Gladstone, a member of the Delta County Welfare Board, was elected vice chairman and Walter Veraghe of Powers, a member of the Menominee County Welfare Board, was elected secretary.

More Harvest Of State Forests Getting Accent

By JEAN WORTH

Michigan's forest industries must be saying "Don't shoot, I'm innocent" in these days of public criticism of the soaring cost of lumber and plywood.

The situation reveals an odd circumstance with which the public may not be familiar.

While Michigan is an important state in wood industry, it is not a big producer of lumber or plywood; its timber goes mostly to other uses.

It used to be a very important producer of lumber — Menominee was for a brief time the largest lumber shipping port in the world — and it will be a more important producer of lumber and plywood in the years ahead, but it isn't sharing in the lumber market bonanza of today in a big way.

Govt. Forests

Spokesmen for both the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Forest Service told their relationship to the lumber boom to day. There are 4 million acres of state and federal government lands in the Upper Peninsula, with the state having the larger ownership of the two. 2.2 plus million acres compared with 1.7 plus million acres of federal lands. The two governments hold a little more than 40 per cent of the U.P. forest lands.

Despite the current cry for sawtimber to meet a crisis in construction materials supply as the nation moves into an expanded homebuilding program, the two federal forests in the Upper Peninsula have never been able to make their harvestable cut. This means to harvest all the trees in the forests which are mature and which should be cut.

Federal Forest Cut

Alfred Trout, supervisor of the Hiawatha National Forest, said it had an allowable cut of 55 million board feet in 1968 and cut 33 million, or 60 per cent. The Ottawa National Forest had an allowable cut of 78 million board feet and cut 57 million, or 73 per cent. (Downstate the Huron-Manistee National Forest had an allowable cut of 81 million and cut 67 million or 83 per cent.)

The Michigan federal forest totals were 214 million board feet of allowable cut and 157 million feet cut or 73 per cent. The U.P. federal forests could have cut 133 million board feet and cut 90 million or 68 per cent. This has been the pattern in recent years and it is a situation almost exactly duplicated on the state forests in the U.P., reports Ray Pfeifer, who is in charge of wood sales in the state forests for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

State Forest Products

"This serious shortage of lumber for housing construction and an abrupt rise in lumber prices," says Pfeifer "affects Michigan's people and forests. Some oak and maple flooring, hardwood veneers and plywood, particleboard and hardboard, as well as a small volume of 2x4's and other items used in construction are manufactured in Michigan from Michigan timber, but the state's wood products derived from this industry are not nationally significant as important elements in housing and building construction.

"Relatively little construction lumber is produced in Michigan. We do not have a large quantity of the kind of trees needed for this purpose."

Demand To Grow

"But, in addition to lumber for construction, there is a very rapidly rising demand for pulpwood for paper making to satisfy the needs of a growing population, and, as housing construction accelerates, it will be followed by an increasing demand for furniture and wooden accessories for the homes. These are important products from Michigan's forests."

Cutting Record

"There have been allegations by national leaders that to a great extent the national shortage of mature timber on federal lands are not being released to the market fast enough. In Michigan state forests are producing at well above the average (50 per cent) level by marketing almost 67 per cent of their allowable cut. In total, the state forests which constitute just 20 per cent of the productive forest area of Michigan (federal forests compose 13 per cent of the area) are the source of 20 per cent of the timber cut.

"More could and should be done by the owners and administrators of forest lands in Michigan in order to meet the increasing needs of this nation for wood products. Foresters of the State Department of Natural Resources emphasize the need for concern about the future as well as the present."

Don't Cut Out!

"They point out that for anyone to liquidate his timber holdings just because of present prices and demand would lead to even more serious shortages in the future. There's need now for forest landowners to seek advice of foresters on management of these important resources."

"Despite current high prices and rising demand for timber and wood products, Michigan's forests are yielding just a little more than half the timber that could be cut from them. Here is a responsibility to contribute to the needs of the people of the nation and an opportunity for Michigan to receive added economic benefits from increased harvesting and manufacture of timber products for this growing market."

More Timber Today

"It is estimated that in the past 30 years about 21 billion board feet of timber has been cut from almost 5 million acres of land and yet Michigan has far more timber and far more acres of productive forest land than it had 30 years ago. (The U.S. Forest Service says the Hiawatha National Forest has 7 times more timber on it than when it was acquired.)"

"Foresters point out that Michigan could and should be doing much more in supplying and manufacturing products from its forests. Michigan has over 90 species of trees, a large number of which are of commercial importance. In some localities certain species are being overcut, but there are areas of mature and over-mature timber not being reached by this new demand. The net effect is that far more could be cut, mostly in the North."

Coho Planting Starts Monday

Despite the pesticide problem in Lake Michigan, release of 850,000 coho salmon smolts, four and one-half to five inches in length, will begin on Monday in six Lake Superior streams, four Lake Michigan streams and one Lake Huron stream, the Dept. of Natural Resources announced today.

All but 200,000 of the salmon are being held in the Thompson Hatchery at Manistique.

Salmon plantings will begin Monday in the Anna River in Alger County, where 200,000 coho are to be released, and continue on Wednesday in the Whitefish River in Delta County with 100,000 smolts scheduled to be released. On Friday, the Manistique River in Schoolcraft County and the Sucker River in Alger County, each will be planted with 50,000 coho.

Other plantings, scheduled in May, will take place in the Falls River in Baraga County, the Sturgeon River in Baraga County, the Ontonagon River in Ontonagon County, the Presque Isle River in Gogebic County, the Big Cedar River in Menominee County and Thompson Creek in Schoolcraft County.

The planting of the Big Cedar River has been delayed because of troubles connected with the smelt run and the Thompson Creek planting has been delayed because the smolts are going to be marked and a branding machine is needed from the Fish and Wildlife Service. Both streams will receive 50,000 smolts.

One hundred thousand coho, of which 33,000 will be fin clipped, will be planted in the Carp River in Mackinac County which flows into Lake Huron. In addition, 50,000 chinook salmon will be released later in the Anna River in Alger County.

Dept. of Natural Resources officials, who ordered coho salmon plants suspended briefly after federal officials seized some 22,000 pounds of frozen salmon from last year's fall runs because of excessive DDT and Dieldrin residues in the fish, gave the green light to Lake Michigan plants last week.

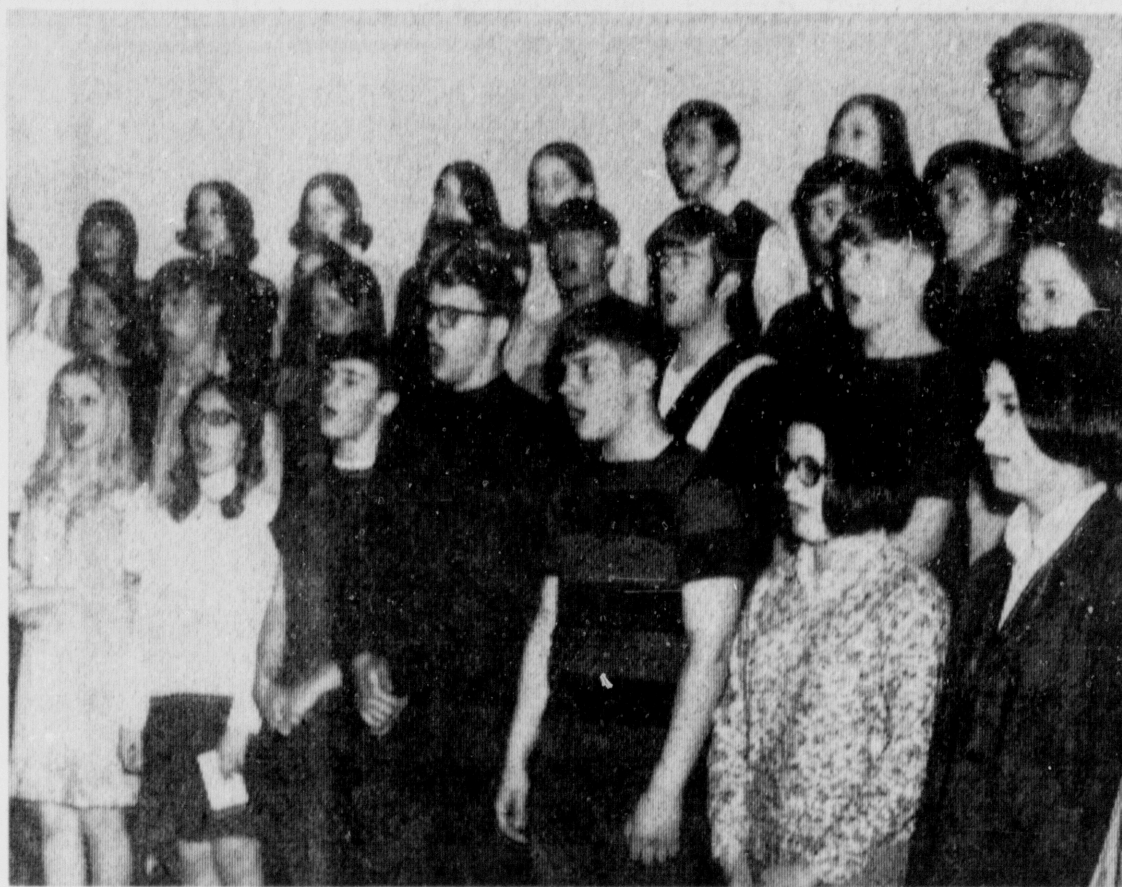

No determination of whether to continue the coho planting program next year has been reached.

OWOSSO (AP) — Words of praise and sympathy were sent today to the family of former U.S. Rep. Alvin M. Bentley of Owosso, a millionaire philanthropist who died in Tucson, Ariz., last week.

Gov. William Milliken issued a statement "noting a sense of great loss" at the death of Bentley.

"He will be remembered not only for his prominence in Congress, but also for his very deep sense of civic responsibility . . . in the public affairs of his community and state after he left Congress," said the governor. "I share with his family a sense of great loss," Milliken said.

Milliken Urging Action Against Discrimination

Frank Romain Dies Thursday

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. William Milliken Thursday urged the Michigan Civil Rights Commission to step up enforcement of laws prohibiting discrimination against minority groups.

Speaking at the fifth anniversary of the commission, Milliken said, "of course, we all know that we cannot end prejudice through legislation."

"Yet we also know that we can stop the effects of prejudice and discrimination through legislation, if it is relentlessly enforced. Continued and increased effective enforcement of the civil rights as now in the books will make a difference—as it has made a difference in the past," he said.

The governor said hate, bigotry and violence were increasing in the state.

"All too often we learned of an event—a decision, an action, a tragedy—and leap to the wrong conclusion," Milliken said. "It seems to me this fact has been well symbolized by the controversy over the actions of Judge George Crockett in the aftermath of what already has become known as the Linwood Incident."

"Many have contacted me to demand that I remove Judge Crockett," he said, referring to the judge's decision to release some of those arrested following the fatal shooting of a Detroit policeman.

"Such people neither know nor care that I do not have such power," he continued. "And many of these people neither know nor care what the facts of the case are."

"And the same can be said of the other side," he added. "I have been contacted by many people who have urged me to commend Judge Crockett or even to defend him, and many of these people, too, do not have all the facts."

We must rely on the law—not opinion, he said. "And if it (the law) does not work properly, then we must change it."

Milliken said the commission has investigated thousands of cases of alleged discrimination "and hundreds of persons today enjoy a fuller measure of civil rights because of the commission's activities."

Frank Romain, 85, of Bark River died early Thursday afternoon at St. Francis Hospital. He was born April 10, 1885 in Bark River and had resided there all of his life. He was a member of the Bark River Bible Chapel.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Albin (Myrtle) Olson of Chicago, two grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Boyle Funeral Chapel from 4 to 9:30 p. m. today and funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Bark River Bible Chapel. The Rev. Walter Nordin will officiate and burial will be in the Bark River Cemetery. The remains will be taken to the church one hour before services.

Demo Committee To Fight ABM

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats today announced the formation of a special committee to fight the deployment of an Antiballistic Missile System (ABM).

State Party Chairman James McNeely named Dr. J. Russell Bright, Wayne State University professor of Chemistry, as committee chairman.

Named associate chairmen were Douglas Fraser, a member of the United Auto Workers Union international executive board, and Murray Jackson, chairman of the first district Democratic organization.

"The role of this committee will be to bring about public discussion and debate on the ABM issue, with the aim of mobilizing public opposition," McNeely said.

Alvin M. Bentley

against their island being a U.S. territory.

Bentley, who served four terms in Congress, had been in a wheel chair since 1967, when he underwent surgery.

His grandfather was a founder of General Motors Corp. and left him a fortune estimated between $7 million and $35 million, while Bentley was still a student at the University of Michigan.

Bentley, a supporter of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, served in the House from 1953 to 1960. He failed in an attempt to unseat U.S. Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., in 1960. Two years later, Bentley lost an attempt to defeat Neil Staeble for congressman-at-large.

Former Gov. George Romney named him to the University of Michigan Board of Regents in 1966.

Foundation Eight years ago, Bentley gave a $1 million grant to establish the Alvin Bentley Foundation, which provides monies for charitable, scientific and educational projects and for college scholarships.

Friends also said he had been privately financing other charities.

He earned a bachelor's and master's degree from U-M.

Our No. 1 Issue

The greatest issue in America today is the role of the military in our defense policies.

A great national disenchantment has developed over our military adventure in Vietnam and the mood of the country is calling for a pullout.

There is also a strong wash of public opinion against the defense establishment's plans for an anti-ballistic missile defense system as another escalation of the arms race.

The reasons for these public reactions are complex. They probably come, first of all, from a national frustration that marks our time. We have been fighting our longest war without winning it and we have come to question the good sense of our involvement in it.

There are good reasons for us not to hasten out of it lest we encourage Russia, who is bankrolling the war, to enlarge her military challenge. But a growing mood pervades our people. They think the military goofed on Vietnam and they suspect that it is guessing about the ABM system. While the military appears to have led our civilian leadership astray on Vietnam, it still must bear a heavy responsibility for the commitment there, and the American people should remember always that we really confront Soviet Russia in Vietnam, not the North Vietnamese nor the Viet Cong.

They couldn't keep the war going until next Friday without Russia's help. We fight Russia there and she's in no mood to end our embarrassment or bloodletting and until we can bring some pressures upon her for settlement there may be no settlement.

The warning of President Eisenhower against a military-industrial complex which would rule America and devote its energies to war business is being much exercised these days. Mr. Eisenhower knew that we could not quickly shed ourselves of our military-defense industry establishment, even if it were desirable because defense needs no longer required it. They have become too big a part of our economy to be swept out overnight.

Even Senator Wayne Morse, who was such a critic of our military-defense industry complex, rose up quickly when it was suggested that his state lose any defense business. President Eisenhower didn't call for quick disarmament. He knew that the United States cannot disarm in total disregard of the needs for world safety and stability. But he was also wise enough to know that if we are to have peace it must be by political decision and not force of arms, which only sets up another war.

We are caught in a dilemma, determined to retire from war, but unable to convince ourselves that we can do it without imperiling our own safety and that of the world.

Your Car Stolen?

Crime is booming, and one of the booming-est branches of it is automobile theft.

One out of every 107 cars in the nation was stolen last year, reports Michael J. Murphy, formerly New York city police commissioner and now president of the National Automobile Theft Bureau, an investigative network maintained by more than 400 insurance companies.

That amounted to a total of 776,000 stolen cars, in increase of 18 per cent over 1967. Murphy predicts that more than a million cars, worth more than $1 billion, may be stolen this year.

"It is becoming more and more difficult to recover stolen cars," he says, "because thefts are now being perpetrated by car theft rings backed by organized crime."

Auto theft rings often steal cars by the dozen in one state and sell them in another, with buyers lined up before the cars are stolen. Last year, major rings were broken up in California, New York, Illinois and Tennessee.

One New York ring was stealing $7,000 Cadillacs in Massachusetts, registering them in New York and selling them there for $3,000 each. Another ring stole more than 50 $3,000 cars in New York and shipped them to South Africa where they were snapped up for between $8,000 and $13,000 apiece.

Motorists literally hold the key to curbing car thievery to a great extent — at least the casual, spur-of-the-moment kind — simply by taking the time to lock their cars whenever they park and taking the keys with them.

All 1970 U. S. model cars will be equipped with locking systems which automatically lock the steering mechanism and transmission once the ignition key is removed. Like door locks, however, they will do no good unless motorists use them.

AS MANY OF THE comforts of home as possible will be built into America's first space station, which will look something like this. Simple everyday activities like eating, bathing and shaving become difficult in the weightlessness of space. NASA scientists are working hard to make life more bearable for crewmen, who will be living aboard the station for up to two months.

Gravity Proves Weighty Problem In Space World

By NOEL GROVE

NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are these little things about gravity that you've probably been taking for granted.

Like the last time you took a shower, did the water come out of the nozzle and just float aimlessly around the room?

The last time you got a haircut, did the trimmings hang in the air and get in your eyes, nose and mouth?

Those are just a few of the problems facing the men who engineer America's space travel plans. And so far they've only scratched the surface in dealing with them, due to the brevity of space flights to date.

The personal comforts of space travel will get new attention in the next phase of exploration—the Apollo Applications Program. It involves placing space stations in earth orbit with crews that will serve tours up to two months in length. Unless some improvements in personal comfort are made, it will be like circling the world nonstop in a Spad.

Take it from a man who knows, Col. Frank Borman, who commanded the Apollo 8 flight around the moon: "We have to realize that when you put a man in orbit for 60 days or longer, you have to pay more attention than we have in the past to his basic creature comforts.

"I think we need to concern ourselves with proper engineering for better body waste disposal systems. We have to provide showers, and some form of entertainment—television or canned tapes. We have to look into better food."

Astronauts can be very stoic for limited periods of time. But over extended periods certain discomforts can not only irritate them, it can affect their actual performance.

Creating an artificial gravity in a space vehicle would solve many of the problems, but it would also complicate construction and increase the weight greatly. "I think the consensus is that we have not yet identified any physiological requirement for artificial gravity," said Dr. Edward McLaughlin of the Space Medicine section of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

But without gravity, there is the food problem.

"None of the astronauts have been happy with it," admits Robert Lohman of NASA's Advanced Missions section.

NASA recognizes that much of man's pleasure and satisfaction in eating comes from the process of eating, not just the ending of hunger. Squeezing liquid turkey and dressing out of a cellophane bag into your mouth just isn't all that exciting.

Nor is cleaning yourself every day with a dry chemical wash pad. Nor trying to sleep strapped down in a bunk while your crew members are chatting and working within easy earshot. Nor will joking with ground control pass for recreation over two months' time.

Long hair and beards may be in style, but they become a functional problem when they begin prickling the lips and making an astronaut unpleasant in appearance to his long-term captive comrades.

NASA is looking into it all. "But," says Lohman, "I must say we just don't have that many good ideas going for us."

You won't read or hear much about one of the biggest problems of all—the handling of body waste. Suffice to say that astronauts are very dissatisfied with the way it is handled now.

But NASA is coming up with some solutions, some of which elicit the trace of a smile.

A whisker remover is being developed that works like a combination razor and vacuum cleaner. "I like a straight edge razor," wailed a NASA male in a recent discussion session. Sorry pal, no floating latter.

A zero gravity shower has been designed, with the usual nozzle at the top and a strong vacuum at the bottom to pull down the water before it floats away. Enter the astronaut, singing.

Weight-watching? An ingenious scale has been designed that measures a man's mass by swinging him back and forth like a pendulum.

Motivation? The first space station crew will try out jet shoes.

Entertainment? How about some bad movies? There'll be good ones, too, but one isolation study indicates that throwing in some bad ones makes the good ones enjoyable by contrast, besides causing a healthy release of hostility.

These are just a few answers to the many problems scientists have to address in the Apollo Applications Program, which is, after all, just a stepping stone to the next big project of interplanetary travel that may last a year or more.

And that's a long time to go without a haircut.

Ex-Prisoner Looks For Job; No Luck

Dear Ann: My husband is a good man who got into bad company. I am not trying to whitewash the situation. Buddy was stupid to do what he did. But it seems unfair that after he has paid his debt to society he should be unable to get a decent job. I'm afraid if someone doesn't hire him soon he'll go back with his old pals and end up in prison again.

For nearly a month, Buddy's been pounding the pavement, answering ads, going to employment agencies, filling out forms, and still no job. He's not afraid of work. He'll do anything, but when they learn he has a record, that's it.

I make very good money at an electronics plant and our oldest boy (17) turns over every penny from his part-time job, but it kills my husband's pride that he isn't supporting his family. Please, Ann, tell us what to do.—N. Y. Wife

Dear Wife: The Fortune Society is a volunteer organization started and run by ex-convicts in the New York area. The address is 1545 Broadway, New York, N. Y., 10036. Those outside the New York area should contact the State Employment Agency and ask specifically what companies in that state employ ex-convicts.

If any of you kind-hearted company presidents out there want to perform a tremendous service, please write to me and say you will take a chance on ex-cons. I promise to pass the word.

People are always interested in "what happened" when a well known, affluent man gets a divorce. A few sentences from his wife could ruin him. The large and famous firms he works for would not smile kindly on an executive whose wife left him because of his games with a little tramp young enough to be his daughter.

I wonder if that cutie will still look good after the guy is financially drained, disgraced and on the hook for alimony and child support. I hope every man who is fooling around will read this letter and wonder if it was written by his wife. No clues, please—let 'em sweat.—Wiser Now

Dear Wiser: Here's your letter plus a word to all you fellows out there who are sweating a little. Please don't write and ask me what city the letter came from. I'm not talking.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Expensive caskets do not represent status in the eyes of God and are a sinful waste of resources.—The Rev. Crawford F. Coombes of Millis, Mass.

If it is suggested that the undergraduates of the 1960s have a more adult sense of responsibility than those of earlier generations, the reply is surely that though the student of today may be far more serious-minded than his predecessors, to lack a sense of humor is not the same thing as to possess a sense of responsibility.—John Sparrow, warden of All Souls' College, Oxford University, on student revolts.

The late Edward Hynes was one of the great dummy players. His specialty was the squeeze play and he liked to announce his squeezes as early in the play as possible. Like most of us Eddy was somewhat of an overbidder. His jump to East groaned. "You drop my queen but wouldn't you have been down if my partner held that card?"

Eddy would not have been down. The situation is one in which South is able to squeeze West down to two clubs so that if West holds the queen he can't protect it.

Eddy ruffs the third diamond, ruffs a heart in dummy; returns to his hand with a trump, ruffs his last heart with dummy's ace of trumps and proceeds to run off his trumps.

When Eddy leads his last trump his other three cards are all clubs. Dummy's last four cards are the ace-king-jack of clubs and seven of diamonds.

West has to discard first and must hold a diamond. Therefore he must discard down to two clubs. North's diamond has done its work and is discarded and the clubs are good for the last three tricks.

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♥
3 ♠ Pass ?

You, South, hold:
♠ Q 2 ♥ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 ♦ 8 6 4 ♣ 12
What do you do now?

A—Bid three hearts. Don't pass in disgust. For all you know your partner may be making some sort of obscure cue bid. In any event, he won't hold more than four diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner raises you to four hearts. What do you do now?

four spades wasn't much of an overbid but it was just as well that he was an expert on squeezes.

West opened the ace of hearts and shifted to the five of diamonds. East took the ace and returned a diamond to his partner's king. West continued with the 10 and when East showed out Eddy showed his hand and remarked, "If East has three or more clubs to the queen I am down one. Otherwise I claim the rest of the tricks. Of course, since I have claimed I am not allowed to take a club finesse.

Now they are on a trip to visit their other two sons and their families, Harold who lives in Clarinda, Iowa, is a principal at the school for mentally retarded, and Major Allan, who is stationed at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Aalto visited the Ted Rzepecki and Donald Athanas families in Waukegan, Ill., and the Gary Johnsons in Chicago Heights. SISTER MARGARET MARY BACH is one of the modern nuns, a group of church officialdom that is the surprise package of religious initiative and reform. "We're way ahead of the priests," she says. "Once a woman gets an impression that something should be done—zoom! She does it. But a man sits and thinks about it." Sister Margaret Mary, 35, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bach of Milwaukee is currently completing her dissertation for a doctorate in philosophy from the Catholic University of America and is also lecturing widely. "New Nun" Emerges In Religion Reform

NEW YORK (AP) — the "new nun" today is the surprise package of religious initiative and reform.

While much of church officialdom still is grappling over how to handle new ideas, she's carrying them out.

"We're way ahead of the priests," says Sister Margaret Mary Bach. "Once a woman gets an impression that something should be done—zoom! She does it. But a man sits and thinks about it."

It's a difference in temperament, she adds, between the abstractly analytical male and the intuitive female.

In any case, the tide of change and renovation has swept the Catholic orders of women in this country, transforming to varying degrees the rules and ways of their 176,000 members.

New Life Style

"It's bringing about an entirely new life style, a wider, freer expression of religious community," says Sister Margaret Mary. "The heart of it all is openness both to the world and the divine presence in it."

That altered outlook, reversing the previous emphasis on keeping nuns fenced off from the sullied worldly arena, has produced a whirl of changes in the sisterhoods, including:

—Widespread easing of the formerly fixed, uniform patterns of worship and work, allowing leeway for individually planned schedules of activity.

—More democratic operational procedures, providing for member participation in electing or recommending superiors and in revising constitutions and bylaws.

Old Rules

—Elimination in most cases of old insulating rules prohibiting home visits and attendance at public functions or other social occasions without special permission, leaving it up to personal discretion.

TV Has Over-Reacted To Violence: Connors

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television networks have over-reacted to the outcry against violence, says Mike Connors, whose "Mannix" series has been profoundly affected by the curbs on rugged action.

Connors, as the hard-bitten private sleuth Mannix, will be back for a third season on CBS, but he admits that the show almost didn't make it.

"I was never in doubt that we would be renewed, as far as the ratings were concerned," he commented. "Mannix" held its own in the first season and then took off like a rocket in its second season. But, despite the ratings, I feared that the show would be canceled as a gesture to impress the FCC and the Milton Eisenhower commission on violence.

"Then the network would be able to say, 'See-we had a successful show in 'Mannix' and we took it off because of its violence."

Absurd
While not defending violence in television, Connors believes that the campaign against it has reached absurd proportions.

"All right, so you want to remove all violence from television," he propounded. "That means no more football; what could be more violent than knocking a halfback six feet in the air?"

"No more boxing matches. Consider the violence of two men trying to beat each other's brains out, and for what purpose? To make money. At least the fistfights on 'Mannix' have a more worthwhile reason; the triumph of good over evil."

"And if you're going to do away with all violence on the home screen, that means no more news shots of campus demonstrations. And no more coverage of the war in Vietnam."

Ridiculous
Connors admitted that "Mannix" bordered on violence during its first season, which featured a rubber-hose beating and other bits of strong action. But all that was changed in the crackdown that followed the assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert F. Kennedy.

"During the last season the rough stuff was cut down to an almost ridiculous extent," the actor said. "Now 'Mannix' has always been an action show that features a great deal of movement. It also requires occasional rough action-how else are you going to apprehend a criminal?"

"Yet I would estimate that in 15 out of the season's 25 shows, I didn't even produce a gun."

Spend Funds On Traffic Control

LANSING (AP) — Plans for distributing $9 million in federal matching funds under a program to ease traffic problems in Michigan's urban areas were announced today by the state Highway Department.

The program will take effect July 1. It is aimed at improving traffic congestion and hazards on major urban streets.

None of the money is to be spent for major construction or reconstruction projects. All must be earmarked for traffic control devices, widening of intersections and such improvement work.

The Highway Department said 57 urban areas with populations of more than 5,000 are eligible to take part in the program.

The top priority, however, will go to Michigan's 11 largest urban areas with populations of more than 50,000.

Detroit is slated to receive the top amount of $2.8 million. Wayne out-county areas will receive $1.39 million.

King George I of England could neither speak nor understand the English language.

Volcano Sketch Truly Awesome

NEW YORK (AP) — In this era of the hour-and-a-half or two-hour show, one of the rarest commodities in television is the complete and well-rounded half-hour program.

There's always a need for half-hour shows to fill program gaps. But CBS which dropped "Blondie" at midseason for "The Queen and I"—which hasn't worked, either—has the additional problem of trying to eke out the season with a minimum number of comedy shows in the new season.

This explains the curious, incomplete form of Thursday night's "Volcano An Island Is Born." It was a News division show, but concerned an event between six and two years old. While CBS got hold of some marvelous film footage showing the eruption of an undersea volcano that created three islands, it had its trouble making the thing topical.

The motion picture film of the eruption was truly awesome and dramatic—vast jets of steam and ash tossed from the sea into the sky, streams of molten lava running down the volcano sides like a slow-motion river.

Since the film took up most of the time, there was not much room to develop any news theme. The script made a few references to scientists racing to the scene to study the birth of a land mass, but we never found out anything they learned.

In summary, the pictures were great, the script, disappointing.

Lift Limits

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced spring truck weight restrictions will be lifted as of Friday from seasonal state highways from the south state line north to and including highway M-55. The restrictions were imposed to protect the highways from damage during the spring thaw.

MANY FRENCH architectural features are immediately evident in this two-story Chateau. Note how the upper windows break through both the roof and the wall. The dormers in the garage roof, at the left, give extra light, air and space to an upstairs lounge.

Comfortable French Style

By ANDY LANG

Here is a French Provincial in a two-story Chateau with a second floor large enough to include four bedrooms, two baths and a lounge.

Design Z-88 combines the elegance of mass with the tasteful use of ornamental detailing in the typical style of native French architecture. Elements which catch the eye are the steeped hip roof, curved window heads, continuous moulding around the eaves, wall-faced dormers and diamond-paned windows over the recessed entrance. The brick front is augmented by wood shingles on the garage and at the front and rear of the house.

A family that requires four bedrooms will find the interior arranged for comfortable movement. Architect William G. Chirgottis has accomplished this with a good traffic plan and sizable rooms. The tone is set by a central foyer stretching 16' 6" and containing two clothes closets.

The living room and the dining room are at either side of the foyer. Three windows are along the front wall of the living room, with a fireplace on the opposite wall. The dining room, with two windows facing the front, is adjacent to the kitchen-dinette, which has its own eating area large enough to accommodate the entire family, either at regular meals or snacktime. Two windows, one over the sink and a picture unit in the dinette, provide plenty of natural light and a view of the rear yard. There is a lavatory with a mirrored vanity between the kitchen and the family room at the right.

Sliding glass doors in the rear wall of the family room give light and access to patio, lounging and garden areas. A brick fireplace, with a wood bin and a built-in refreshment bar takes up an entire wall in a rather dramatic fashion. To the left of the kitchen is a laundry room, with one door leading to the outside and another to a two-car garage. Besides two closets in the laundry room, there is enough extra storage space in the garage to take care of such things as garden tools, toys, lawn chairs and the like.

An open staircase leads directly from the entrance foyer to the sleeping areas, with a wide upstairs hall giving an immediate feeling of second-floor spaciousness. The master bedroom has a private bath with a built-in, full-length mirrored vanity and a tiled stall shower. It also has a separate dressing room, complete with a vanity and two closets, one of which is extra large, even for a walk-in. Just off the master bedroom, turning it into a suite, is a lounging area 17' long, utilizing the space within the garage roof.

Each of the other three bedrooms is amply supplied with closet space, and there is a linen closet in the hall. The main bathroom has a tub, towel storage closet, double lavatory

Congress Probes Title Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators looking into the costs of buying and selling homes are converging from two directions on the title insurance industry.

They want to know if premium rates have been set in violation of antitrust laws, and how titling costs borne by buyers and sellers of real estate relate to insurers' profits, loss payouts and operating costs.

So far, investigators have run into a lack of industry-wide statistics and a bewildering maze of local practices. But one investigator said indications are "that the American home-buyer is being overcharged $50 million annually for title insurance."

Dispute Claim
A title industry spokesman disputed that claim. He said the business is misunderstood by the public and that an investigation might be a good way to bring it to the light.

Title insurance is designed to financially protect the homeowner and mortgage lender against the chance that title to their property will be contested because of old liens, back taxes or the return of missing heirs.

A preliminary inquiry into the industry's operations already is being conducted by staff members of the Senate Banking Committee and the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

Loss Ratio Low
The Banking Committee expects to hold public hearings in early summer. Its second-ranking Democrat, Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, earlier asked the Federal Reserve Board to investigate title insurance premiums as part of its responsibility in administering the new truth-in-lending law. The board refused.

"The latest authoritative data we have indicates that the loss ratio for title insurance companies was about 1.7 per cent," Proxmire said. "This means for every $100 that the title insurance companies take in in premiums, they pay out only $1.70 in claims."

Aides to the antitrust and monopoly subcommittee under Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., moved into title insurance as an adjunct to their probe of auto insurance. But they are expected to leave public hearings to the Banking Committee.

Title insurance industry spokesmen contend it is erroneous to consider loss ratios in their business in the same way they are considered in automobile or other casualty insurance. They maintain that the bulk of titling fees actually pay for the investigative work to make certain the title is clear.

The government itself is a major purchaser of title insurance.

The Federal Housing Administration is currently studying whether it should quit buying title insurance on houses it repossesses and then resells. The study follows a General Accounting Office report that FHA could save $2.7 million this budget year simply by guaranteeing title itself rather than buying insurance.

William J. Ozanich Awarded Bronze Star

A Manistique man has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in Vietnam. Honored was Spec. 4 William J. Ozanich, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ozanich, 163 N. Maple St.

Ozanich was cited for "heroic action" on Jan. 26, 1969. Since the citation he has been promoted from Pfc. to Spec. 4 rank.

Hospital, Doctor Figure Into High Welfare Costs

LANSING (AP)—Rising hospital and doctor bills are among major reasons why Michigan's welfare costs have been soaring and are expected to reach a federal-state total of $500 million in the fiscal year ending July 1.

The general increase in the cost of living, in-migration from the South and advertising also have been among factors.

New federal regulations, effective July 1, are expected to add to the state's burden. Medicaid, which first became available to the needy in October of 1966 — not quite three years ago — is expected to require a federal-state outlay of $176.8 million in the current fiscal year and one of $207.3 million in the next.

Participants Up — The number seeking medicare, as well as increases in hospital and doctor fees, has been increasing.

Anyone qualified for any other category of relief is also qualified for medicare and so are the so-called "medically indigent," those whose incomes are judged insufficient to buy them needed medical treatment.

Doctors and hospitals participating in medicare are paid their "usual and customary" rates. Nursing homes get $14 a day per patient where a registered nurse serves patients around the clock; $12 if patients merely are cared for under supervision of a registered nurse.

Under contract with the State Social Service Department, Blue Cross pays hospital bills and Blue Shield the doctor and drug bills, collecting in turn from the state. Nursing home care is handled similarly by Travelers Insurance Co.

Move Northward — Advertising gets into the rising-cost picture this way: The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), a federal agency, conducted campaigns last year to seek out the needy and explain to them how to go about obtaining assistance in whatever category they might qualify.

Migration of the South's poor to the North is hard to measure, but experts agree it has been sizeable.

The average Michigan family on ADC received $186 a month last year, while in Mississippi a family of four got only $40.74 a month. With this information and rumors of good jobs to be had in the North, the poor have been flooding northward like lemmings to the sea.

Bernard Houston, director of the Michigan Department of Social Services says at least three LANSING (AP)—A united effort is underway to awaken the public to the need for and prod Congress into approval of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore.

The state Natural Resources Commission and a half dozen conservation groups agreed on the campaign Thursday.

Backers have been trying for nearly 10 years to gain approval for the setting aside the 61,000-acre site on northwest Lake Michigan, in Benzie County, as a unit of the national park system.

It would include North and South Manitou Islands.

Rouman's Group — "We might have a chance to sell the bill this year even though the administration is concerned with the budget," James Rouman, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs told the commission.

Rouman said his group would be willing to spearhead the drive.

The commission approved a resolution asking the 91st Congress to take action on the proposal.

When the idea was first proposed the estimated cost was $9 million, said Commissioner Matt Laitala of Hancock. Now, he estimated, it would cost up to $19 million.

Larry Olson, president of the Benzie County Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce, said people in the area are nearly 100 per cent behind the proposal.

State Youths Plead Guilty

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Two Michigan youths being on trial for murder in the penknife slaying of a Boston College student were allowed to plead guilty today to lesser charges.

The youths, Craig Simoni, 17, of Birmingham, Mich., and Ross G. Witthoft, 17, of Beverly Hills, Mich., are sons of prominent Detroit area businessmen.

Simoni pleaded guilty to manslaughter, personal larceny and larceny from an auto.

Witthoft pleaded guilty to being an accessory before the fact of manslaughter, personal larceny and larceny from an auto.

The youths were accused of killing Robert V. Phelps Jr., 20, of Wethersfield, Conn.

His body was found last August at a rest area along Route 25 in Middleboro. Police said he had been stabbed 32 times in the chest and back.

The trial opened Monday, but no testimony had been presented.

A 16-member jury had been chosen, but it had remained outside the courtroom.

Police said at the time that they had recovered a blood-stained shirt, a knife and a credit card belonging to the slain student with the arrests.

Bicycle Safety Rules Explained

Children in the Buckeye School were given an opportunity to see one of the two bicycles which will be given away at the Bicycle Safety Rodeo when State Trooper Douglas Madden talked to them about the necessity of obeying good bicycle safety rules in order to prevent further accidents in Gladstone. Trooper Madden, who has talked to groups in All Saints School, James T. The Bicycle Safety program is being sparked by Central PTA and All Saints Home and School Association, assisted by the Rotary Club, Lions Club, American Legion, Boy Scouts, Gladstone Yacht Club and the City and State Police officers. The Bicycle Safety Rodeo will be held April 27 with registration at 1:30 p. m. at All Saints School and the Rodeo will be held on the School parking lot. The two bicycles will be awarded at 4 p. m.

The meeting will be followed by a social hour, which will take the place of the banquet usually held at the close of the season.

Ellis Movalson, Jr., president, will chair the meeting with Dr. James Dehlin, chairman of the election board, handling the election and Dr. B. H. Skellenger acting as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Movalson will lead group singing.

Ski Club awards will be presented by Movalson and Ray Norton, vice president. Ski School patches will be presented by Walter Palmquist, ski instructor, and Helmer Skogquist and Clifford Goodman will present the Swedish Club Cross Country awards.

Detroit Man Damages Auto

A Detroit motorist's car was extensively damaged after he lost control of the vehicle and struck several guard posts on U.S. 2, Manistique Township, near the Tannery Road Wednesday at 6:20 p.m.

George E. Deuparo of Detroit was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law — too fast for conditions — by state police who investigated the mishap. No personal injuries were reported.

A car driven by Daniel J. Barton, 512 N. Mackinac, struck and killed a deer on U.S. 2, Doyle Township, at 6:50 p.m. Wednesday, state police report. Barton's vehicle sustained slight damage. Conservation Department officials were notified. No tickets were issued.

Govenors Plan Pesticide Meet

LANSING (AP) — In an effort to speed up pesticide control in the Great Lakes, Gov. William G. Milliken phoned Wisconsin Gov. Warren Knowles Thursday night to arrange a five-state governors' conference to combat rising pesticide pollution.

In addition, he was expected today to sign an executive order creating an advisory council for environmental quality and urge them to give immediate attention to the matter. The council would include directors of the departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Natural Resources and Public Health.

Milliken's action followed the Natural Resource Commission's request that the Legislature outlaw sale of DDT and dieldrin and appropriate funds to monitor pollution levels.

The urgency of the problem apparently resulted from the discovery of high pesticide levels of Lake Michigan Coho salmon. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration recently seized several shipments of the fish.

From Lake Huron

High pesticide levels also have been discovered in fish taken from Lake Huron, said Wayne Today, chief of the Natural Resources Department's fish division.

"A lot of Coho are going to be unfit to eat," warned Ralph MacMullan, director of the Natural Resources Department. "But people can still catch fish even if they're warned not to eat them."

Whether pesticides have dangerously poisoned inland lakes and fish has not been determined, MacMullan added.

"People shouldn't panic — although we do have a problem," added Today.

Pesticide levels in fish should drop during the summer, MacMullan said, adding that the department would continue planting Coho salmon.

"I'm very optimistic the Legislature can provide something to stiffen pesticide laws," MacMullan said.

"The continued use of DDT would be the most foolish thing that we could do," he said.

"There's pretty unanimous agreement that DDT has got to go."

"The first thing that has to be done is for the federal agency to set a standard defining what level of pesticide content makes a fish unfit to eat," Today said.

Range Of Levels — Fish caught in Lake Michigan, he said, have up to three parts per million of pesticides such as DDT and dieldrin. Those caught during their upstream spawning runs have had a content as high as 10 parts per million.

"It all depends on what level they set," Today said. "It could range from anywhere up to 25 parts per 1 million."

"Once a level is set, then we can plan accordingly," he explained.

Today said monitoring of pesticide levels might hit some "hot spots" but most of Michigan's inland lakes should not be affected.

He did not foresee any wholesale closings of streams or lakes to fishing.

"After all," he added, "fish is not like beef or milk. You only eat it occasionally."

Strikes-n-Spares

With Mike Utt

Most of the adult bowling leagues in the Escanaba area will be finishing up their schedules in the next couple of weeks, but Marge (Mother) Evans is trying to start a summer league for boys and girls from 9 to 16 years of age for 12 weeks. The youngsters will bowl on Saturday afternoons at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes and anyone interested in participating is asked to call 786-0723.

X X X

The girls in Tuesday night league at the Bowl-A-Rama had 200 games and 500 series on their minds this past week. Lois Cox led the way with a 217 game in a 549 series while Delores Moras rolled a 202 game in a 552 series. Donna Remondini had her first 200 game of the year, a 210 and Shirley Rols'ad had a 521 series. Beulah Groos 513, Lu Barnhart, Pat Johnston and Shirley Peltier 503, Fran Goodreau 505 and Lou Rockman 500.

Carol Boyer, a former bowler in the Tuesday Early Bird League at the Holiday Bowl, had games of 216, 204 and 191 for a 611 series during league competition recently in Lansing. Carol was a former employee of the Harnischfeger Corp. and now lives in Lansing, where her husband is a Michigan State Trooper. She is in her seventh year of bowling and carries a 160 average. Her previous high series was a 559.

The Farmers Supply team of the Tuesday night Bay de Noc League at the Bowl-A-Rama sure found the strike zone this past week when they rolled a 1044 scratch game, the high game in the league thus far. The team had 52 marks going into the tenth frame and finished with a 1188 game including handicap. Dick Puddy paced the team in scoring with a 247 game while Lawrence Knauf had a 235, Fred Knauf 200, Fred Pfeister 193 and Darrell Hall 166.

X X X

Don Kline, bowling in the Holiday Major League, picked up the 4-10 split twice during league play this week. Another oddity this past week was the near triplicate miss by Helen Paulin in Monday Bowl-A-Rama League when she had 108 games in her first two tries and finished with a 109 in the third.

Ken Smith, the only 300 bowler thus far in Escanaba this season, established quite an average in his first week of bowling in the Happy Hour League on Thursday night at the Bowl-A-Rama when he rolled games of 219, 191 and 225 for a 635 series. Smith also had games of 221 and 213 in a 610 series this past Wednesday at the Bowl-A-Rama.

Hit-Crazy Bengals Scalp Indians; Lolich Gets Win

DETROIT (AP) — The Cleveland Indians could have swept their two game series over Detroit—if they could have found some way to avoid pitching to the hit-crazy Tigers.

"You've got to pitch to 'em; you can't pitch around them," said Cleveland Manager Al Dark as he slumped on his dressing room stool after the Tigers bombed the Indians 12-3 Thursday on 13 hits and four home runs, including a grand slam by Bill Freehan.

Two days prior Detroit clobbered 11 hits in beating the Indians 6-2 in the opener.

"Nothing went wrong," said Thursday's loser Sam McDowell. "It was just a poorly pitched game."

World Series hero Mickey Lolich was the winner. He went all the way and scattered six hits while McDowell, who had a 1.81 earned-run-average last year, allowed six hits and seven runs in five innings.

Mickey Stanley played first base for Detroit in place of Norm Cash who had a sore eye. Dick Tracewski took Stanley's shortstop spot.

Cleveland is noted for its good pitching and poor hitting. The hitting stayed poor in both games and the pitching fell apart. Luis Tiant was the loser in the opener. His 1.61 ERA led the American League last year.

Dark said Tiger batters "just hit the ball" and that Detroit pitchers are lucky that "they've got someone behind them that can hit the ball."

Freehan hit his grand slam in the fifth after Dick McAuliffe singled. Mickey Stanley was safe on a fielder's choice after McAuliffe slid safely into second, and Willie Horton walked. Freehan also hit a solo blast in the seventh, then Stanley got one in the eighth and Horton lined a two-run homer moments later after Al Kaline singled.

"Neither of them was a strike," Freehan said. "The one I hit off McDowell was high and the other (off Jack Hamilton) was outside."

It was Freehan's second career grand slam. He said he didn't remember he had another one.

The balding catcher said he has been watching Jim Northrup in practice and Northrup's knack for hitting homers with the bases filled may have rubbed off.

"I followed him so often in practice I started to emulate him," Freehan said.

Cleveland got an unearned run off Lolich in the first inning on a double by Jose Cardenal, an error by Horton and a sacrifice fly by Rich Scheinblum.

Detroit went ahead 2-1 in the bottom of the inning when McAuliffe walked, Stanley forced him at second, Kaline doubled scoring Stanley and Horton singled home Kaline.

The Tigers added a run in the second on a triple by McAuliffe after Lolich walked. After the four-run fifth Detroit picked up lone scores in the sixth and seventh, then three in the eighth on Stanley and Horton's homers.

Tony Horton homered for Cleveland in the fourth and the Indians rallied in the seventh but managed only one run after loading the bases with one out.

A chilled crowd of 14,665 was on hand for the slugfest. The temperature dropped from 55 to 50 degrees during the game.

Earl Wilson was scheduled to be on the mound for the Tigers today against Bill Burbach, making his major league debut as the New York Yankees begin a three-game series in Detroit.

Mel Stottlemyre is expected to oppose Detroit's Denny McLain Saturday but Smith said he wasn't sure who would pitch Sunday opposite Stan Bahnsen. He said the choice might be Pat Dobson or Joe Sparna.

Padres, Cubs Remain Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Pitching coach Roger Craig has been tooting the San Diego Padres' horns all spring but the big new sound in the National League is those Chicago Cub bell-ringers.

The amazing Padres kayoed Houston 2-0 in the major leagues' only night action Thursday as Dick Kelley hurled 8 1-3 innings of one-hit ball after losing a no-hit bid in the seventh. That enabled San Diego to sweep their three-game set from the Astros.

The Cubs, meanwhile, had Ron Santo in the hero-a-day role and won their third in a row from Philadelphia 6-2. Santo clubbed two homers and a single.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh stopped the defending champion St. Louis Cardinals for the third straight time 3-2 and the New York Mets downed Montreal 4-2. Atlanta, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and San Francisco were not scheduled.

In the only American League games, Detroit crushed Cleveland 12-3, Baltimore edged Boston 2-1 in 13 innings and Washington clobbered the New York Yankees 9-6.

"This sort of bears out what Craig said all spring," said Manager Preston Gomez of the Padres after Dick Selma, Johnny Podres, Tommie Sisk, Kelley, Frank Reberger and Billy McCool held the Astros to one run and 10 hits in the three games. Houston hasn't scored in the last 26 innings.

The Padres' exhibition earned run average was sky-high and Gomez was worried. "But Craig said our pitching would look a lot better once we got out of that thin Arizona air and so far what's happened has borne him out," Gomez said.

Jim Wynn got the first Houston hit, a clean single with one out in the seventh, and Doug Rader singled with two away in the ninth before McCool retired Denis Menke with the bases loaded. Ollie Brown drove in both San Diego runs with a third-inning grounder and a sixth-inning homer.

Ernie Banks was Chicago's opening day hero with two homers and Billy Williams slammed four doubles in game No. 2. Thursday was Santo's turn.

"Every day somebody different rings the bell for us," the third baseman said. "This is the big thing on a winning team, to have somebody picking up where the other guy leaves off consistently."

"All spring we talked about our chances of beating the St. Louis Cardinals in the new divisional setup. We knew we had to get off to a good start and we felt we were enough improved through experience and squad bolstering to make a real run at them."

Sudden Death Goal Wins For Montreal

By The Associated Press

Ralph Backstrom sat in the Montreal dressing room after the third period thinking about the Boston Bruins. After 42 seconds of overtime, the Bruins went back to their dressing room thinking about Ralph Backstrom.

"It was my first shot on the net of the game," the Montreal center said Thursday night after his sudden death goal climaxed a rally that carried the Canadiens to a 3-2 victory in the opener of their National Hockey League East Division final playoff series.

"After the third period ended I sat in the room and thought about the fact that I had not had a shot," Backstrom continued.

Bill Flett's goal with five minutes left in the second period gave the Los Angeles Kings a 4-3 triumph over the Oakland Seals and deadlocked their West Division semifinals at 3-all. The deciding game is set for Sunday night in Oakland.

The Canadiens trailed the big, bad Bruins 2-0 with seven minutes left in the third period. But

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

Bill Freehan, primary hero in Thursday's 12-3 romp by the Detroit Tigers over Cleveland, said his eyes have been bothering him since he was hit in the face by a pitched ball during a freak accident in spring training.

"I haven't been seeing the ball good," he said. "I have trouble picking the ball up off the pitcher's hand when I'm catching."

The burly team leader said he couldn't be sure if the problem stemmed from the accident. He had no trouble seeing the ball when he was up to bat, however. He slammed two home runs, including a grand slammer, to pace the 13-hit Tiger attack.

Willie Horton, who slapped a two-run homer in the slugfest, said he was nervous at the plate. "I'm always like that the first month or so of the season," he said. "It has to do with getting used to the fans all over again, I guess."

If a few Tiger fans were surprised to see Mickey Stanley at shortstop in the opener Tuesday, they were doubly surprised Thursday. Stanley played first base in place of Norm Cash who was bothered by a sty.

"It's much easier there and there's not as much pressure as at short," Stanley said.

"I wouldn't say he'll play an awful lot there but he's a good one," said Manager Mayo Smith.

Dick Tracewski played short and Smith said he was pleased with the way he hit the ball. He said Stanley was still the regular shortstop, but that Tracewski or Tom Matchick would play there depending upon the situation. Matchick has been bothered recently by an abscessed tooth but said he feels good now.

Cash said he expected his eye to be all right today and Smith said he would probably be at first in the series opener with New York which began today.

Saturday's game is the first of 40 to be televised this year.

Mickey Lolich now has a 14-4 lifetime record against Cleveland.

Tiger centerfielder Jim Nor-thrup is the only regular without a hit. "I have never gotten off to a good start," he said. "I feel like I'm swinging good, I'm just not getting any hits. It's been this way for five years now."

Howard Listens; Senators Win

By The Associated Press

Manager Ted Williams, who knows something about the subject, had a little batting advice for Washington slugger Frank Howard.

"He wants me to put a few more balls in the air," said the 6-foot-7 Howard, who led the major leagues with 44 home runs last year. The big guy complied and the balls not only went in the air, they went in the seats.

Howard cracked his third and fourth home runs of the season Thursday, leading Washington's 9-6 romp over the New York Yankees. The four homers in three days were four more than Howard had all of last year against the Yankees--the only team to shut him out in 1968.

In Thursday's other American League action, Bill Freehan smashed a pair of homers including a grand slam as Detroit battered Cleveland 12-3, and Baltimore edged Boston 2-1 in 13 innings.

Brant Alyea also homered for the Senators, who piled up a 7-0 lead before New York's Frank Fernandez triggered a Yankee comeback with two homers including a grand slam.

In a three-game Yankee series, the Senators piled up 39 hits and 70 total bases. Their batting average is an unbelievable .361.

"Everybody is all charged up," said Williams, who must be wondering what all the pitcher domination fuss was all about. For the record, in case Williams, who wasn't around last year, doesn't know about it, the Senators batted .224 in 1968.

Frank Robinson opened Baltimore's 13th inning with a disputed double and then rode home on Boog Powell's single to beat the Red Sox.

Boston protested that Robinson's drive down the right field line was foul but Umpire Emmett Ashford ruled it fair and then Powell delivered the run, breaking a tie which had existed from the third inning.

Mike Cuellar, making his first start for the Orioles, allowed just four hits in 10 innings but his throwing error and another by Paul Blair on the same play

Gladstone Thinclads Hope To Break Marks

The Gladstone track team has begun another season and will be hard pressed to better or duplicate last year's accomplishments.

In 1968 the team bettered or tied seven new high school records and won four trophies. They won the 8 lap relay at Northern. The team trophy at Newberry, the Great Lakes Conference, and the U. P. Class A-B mile relay trophy.

There are currently 60 men working out each evening and hoping to find a spot on the team. Among these hopefuls must come replacements for Steve Schram and Jim Swenson lost through graduation, and constant point winners last year.

Coach Richards reports that the major spots to be filled seem to be the 440 yard run and the mile relay team.

Major point winners returning include Bill Swenson, Steve Nelson, Mike Skoruski, Rick Lorensen, Ralph Dollhopf, Bill Marmalick, Dean Culliton, Jeff Young, Gary Ellison, and Cliff Schram. Coach Richards said that there are at least 15 more boys who could play an important part in this year's team.

Major meets include:

Northern Mich. Relays April 12.

Newberry Invitational May 3.

Soo Kwanis May 7.

Great Lakes Conference May 10.

Rudyard Relays May 14.

Regional (Escanaba) May 17.

U. P. Finals (Marquette) May 24.

Championne (Newberry) May 30.

Also are meets scheduled with Manistique, Escanaba, Gwinn, Holy Name, and other area teams.

Santo's slugging backed up Ken Holtzman's clutch pitching, although he was touched for 10 hits.

Pittsburgh broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning against St. Louis. Richie Hebner walked, Roberto Clemente singled, Willie Stargell doubled one run across and Bill Mazeroski's single off pitcher Ray Washburn's hip drove in the eventual winner and offset Mike Shannon's ninth-inning homer for the Cards. Dock Ellis went the route on a seven-hitter.

Tommie Agee hit two long homers and rookie Gary Gentry won his first major league start with ninth-inning homer from Cal Koonce in the Mets' triumph over Montreal. Singles by Ken Boswell, Cleon Jones, Ed Charles and Ron Swoboda accounted for two runs in the first and Agee hit his solo shots in the second and seventh.

Gentry allowed four hits, including John Bateman's homer, through eight innings before singles by Mack Jones and Bateman and Jose Laboy's double drove him out in the ninth.

Brown Accepts Davidson Post

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP)—Larry Brown, former University of North Carolina star now playing with the professional Oakland team of the American Basketball Association, today was named head coach at Davidson College.

Brown, a 28-year-old native of Brooklyn, N.Y., succeeds Lefty Drisell, who resigned last month to become head coach at the University of Maryland.

Davidson President Samuel Reid Spencer, in announcing the appointment, said, "Larry Brown comes with the very highest recommendations. I feel we are fortunate to have a man so highly regarded as a coach and a person."

The assignment is Brown's first as a head coach. He was an assistant for two years at North Carolina. He also played AAU ball for two years at Akron after graduation from North Carolina in 1963.

Soviets Make Gain Harnessing H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet scientists apparently have made important gains toward harnessing the power of the hydrogen bomb, a goal that could lead to unlimited cheap electrical power.

Success in taming the process that makes the sun's heat and the big bang of thermonuclear explosions would be a step toward reactors using the near-limitless hydrogen in ocean water—instead of expensive uranium—as fuel.

Prof. David Rose, a nuclear engineering expert at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, relayed in a telephone interview the details of a report from Academician Lev A. Artsimovich, director of the Soviet Union's work in the field.

Excited Over It

Rose, a key consultant for the United States government's efforts in the same field, said the Soviet report indicates "the best combination of experimental ingredients yet achieved by any nation" in the nearly 20-year-old worldwide quest. "I'm excited about it, and so is everyone else who heard the report," he said.

Specifically, Artsimovich reported a combination of gains involving production of terrifically hot electrified hydrogen gas and its confinement, however briefly, inside a magnetic field.

Until 1962 the United States was the unquestioned leader in research in the field but the Soviet Union has since closed the gap by mounting an effort twice the size of the American one in both manpower and money, the Atomic Energy Commission says.

Before Century Ends

Dr. Amasa Bishop of the AEC, chief of the American program, said in an interview before the new Soviet achievement became known that previous gains by scientists of several countries had opened definite prospects for having hydrogen-powered reactors "well before the turn of the century."

One reason, he said, was that American, Soviet and some other scientists were routinely heating hydrogen gas to temperatures exceeding 50 million degrees in some types of experiments.

Although the figures reported by Rose for the Russian experiment were lower than that—about 20 million degrees—the temperature was held there for one-fifth of a second, which is longer than earlier experiments.

The significance of the Russian report, Rose said, is that it represents the best combination of results so far.

Larger Machine

The best combination would be a temperature of 300 million degrees for at least one-third of a second without any escape of gas—called plasma—ideally would be so dense 300 trillion of atoms of it would fit in a cubic centimeter of space.

Rose said the latest Soviet report fell 10 times short of the objective. But he said Artsimovich reported that completion of a larger machine is expected before the end of this year and plans are well advanced for an even larger one capable of 55 million degrees.

Promises Police Killer Suspect

DETROIT (AP) — The leader of the Republic of New Africa (RNA) has promised police he will bring a member of his Black Legion to court to face a charge of murdering a rookie policeman March 29.

Milton Henry, first vice president of the black separatist group, sent a telegram to Detroit Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen Thursday night saying he will produce Rafael Viera, 20, of New York City in Detroit Recorder's Court for arraignment.

Henry termed the charges unjust.

A federal fugitive warrant and a murder charge were issued against Viera Thursday in the shooting death of Patrolman Michael Czapski, 23, outside an inner city church, after the RNA had just completed its first anniversary celebration.

The RNA's goal is to begin a separate black country in five southern United States.

Alfred Hibbitt, 38, of Detroit, surrendered Thursday after he also was named in a warrant. He was held under $25,000 bond and faces preliminary hearing April 18 on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the wounding of Patrolman Richard Worobec in the incident.

At a news conference Thursday, Spreen also announced "John Doe" warrants had been issued against two other persons on charges stemming from the wounding of Patrolman Worobec.

In his telegram Thursday night, Henry told Commissioner Spreen to "be advised that the citizens of the Republic of New Africa are people of good will—not criminals. If you have a warrant for the arrest of any citizen of this Republic outstanding, we will present such citizen in the appropriate court without the necessity of service of any process."

BAY DE NOC COMMUNITY COLLEGE'S new campus in the Escanaba Industrial Park is expected to look like this when completed, according to David Tulos, architect for Davenport Associates, Grand Rapids. This architect's conception of the overall campus looks west from U. S. 2 and 41. Construction of the first building, a science-technical laboratory complex (located just right of the proposed tennis courts in this view) already is underway on the site. Other buildings in the overall plan include a classroom-library complex, student center, health education building, technical education center, maintenance-garage building, and other classrooms. The smaller buildings at the right are proposed student housing.

Waits Year On Cookie Charge

DETROIT (AP) — After waiting a year in jail since his arrest, 27-year-old Fred Jackson of Detroit went to court yesterday on charges of stealing five boxes of cookies.

Officials in Detroit's Recorder's Court blamed the delay to overcrowded dockets, and undermanned court rooms. Four earlier court appearances by Jackson were delayed.

"This kind of thing happens," said presiding Judge Robert E. DeMascio. "It can't be alleviated unless more judges are available to conduct trials."

DeMascio said he understood Jackson planned to enter a plea without a trial, although the judge said he could assure him a trial within a few days.

He said Jackson's case would be given preference.

The Detroiters were arrested March 18, 1968 on charges of burglarizing a market. Police said the front window of the grocery store had been shattered and Jackson had five boxes of cookies with him when he was arrested.

He has been in jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Court records show no judge was available to hear Jackson's case when it first came up for trial last June 26. Judge Samuel H. Olsen postponed a trial until Sept. 24, at which time the prosecutor's office said its case was not prepared. Judge Donald S. Leonard postponed the trial until Nov. 25.

No judge was available on that date so Judge George W. Crockett postponed it until Jan. 29. For the third time, no judge was available and Judge Joseph E. Maher ordered a fourth postponement.

Papers Oppose DeGaulle Threat

PARIS (AP) — Paris newspapers grumbled today at President Charles de Gaulle's threat to resign if the French people don't approve two constitutional changes at a referendum April 27. But none of them predicted whether the threat would get De Gaulle the approval he demanded.

In a television interview Thursday night, De Gaulle said the outcome of the vote on his proposals to transfer some of the central government's vast powers to regional administrations and to take away the already limited powers of the Senate will determine "the continuation of my mandate or my immediate departure."

Opponents argue that the referendum should be split to permit separate votes on the plan to set up 21 regional administrations and on the Senate proposal.

There is practically no opposition to the idea of breaking the stranglehold of the central administration by establishing regional groupings. But there has been considerable reluctance to reduce the Senate to the role of an advisory body.

Now De Gaulle has thrown a third element into the vote by making it an expression of confidence in his own stewardship.

College Master Plan Given Board Approval

The master plan for the new Bay de Noc Community College campus was approved by the College Board of Trustees Thursday night.

The plan encompasses all future structures and designs of the entire campus through 1981. Presentation of the plan was made by David Tulos, of Davenport Associates, Grand Rapids, engineering firm charged with the responsibility of developing the plan.

The plan will be forwarded to the State Board of Education for acceptance. Future approval for building monies by the Budget Bureau and the Legislature will be based upon this plan, said Dr. Richard Rinehart, college president. The plan will be amended yearly and will have a major updating every five years, he added.

The Board also approved the establishment of a dental assistance program to begin in the fall of 1969, provided that sufficient funds are approved by the Legislature.

Scholarships for the current year were approved by the Board as they have been received and awarded and the Board authorized the appointment of two people from the community to serve on the scholarship committee.

The Board accepted a check in the amount of $2,500 from William J. Primrose to be used in awarding 10 scholarships to Holy Name High School seniors who will attend Bay de Noc Community College in the 1969-70 academic year.

The scholarships include a $300 Practical Nursing scholarship in honor of Minnie Primrose Eaton, the mother of Mr. Primrose; a $275 vocational education scholarship in memory of his step-father, Joseph Eaton, and eight $240 scholarships in honor of his father, William F. J. Primrose.

A resolution also was passed which makes the College eligible to receive Federal monies to assist in the construction of new buildings.

The Bay de Noc Community College Alumni Association reported on activities for the past year and plans for the coming year.

The Board officially changed its regular meeting time from the second Thursday to the second Wednesday of each month in order to ensure full attendance at all meetings.

Court OKs Rules For Judicial Commission

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court gave final approval Thursday to rules under which the newly established Judicial Tenure Commission will investigate complaints about judges.

Pending before the nine-man commission are complaints involving at least seven judges — including Recorder's Court Judge George Crockett who came under fire for releasing prisoners arrested in a shootout with Detroit police.

Gov. William Milliken "strongly recommended" a commission probe of Crockett's handling of mass arraignments and the State Senate urged an investigation in a hotly debated resolution passed last week.

Under the rules, however, the commission may not reveal that it is investigating a judge until after a preliminary, private probe of allegations. Once the secret investigation is concluded the commission may:

—Drop the matter if it finds insufficient evidence for further work.

—Recommend the Supreme Court privately censure the judge.

—File a formal complaint including allegations.
